

A close-up photograph of a child's feet in denim jeans, standing on a wooden floor. The child's feet are positioned centrally, with the toes pointing slightly outwards. The denim jeans are a dark blue color with visible stitching at the hem. The wooden floor has a light brown, natural wood grain pattern. The overall lighting is soft and even, highlighting the texture of the denim and the skin of the feet.

For the Sake of the Children

The FNF guide to shared parenting
Revised and updated edition

Families Need Fathers

The latest edition of Sue Secker's labour of love, the best-selling book 'For the Sake of the Children' is now available for the very reasonable price of £8.99. This practical guide is based on the experiences of FNF members and their families. It will be of interest to anyone wanting to ensure children get the best of both parents' worlds after family breakdown. It provides invaluable information about the real issues that have to be faced, such as dealing sensitively with your ex-partner, coping with the various agencies who may become involved and getting to grips with the legal system and the courts.
